FRIDAY, MARCH 7th – SATURDAY, MARCH 8th
ECOLOGICAL LANDSCAPING ASSOCIATION'S 14th Annual Conference & Eco-Marketplace

Last year's conference of over 450 people from throughout the Northeast was filled with motivated, educated, enthusiastic and excited green industry professionals and concerned community members. This year attendees will discover information, products, and services crucial to their business success and the creation of healthy landscapes. Did you know that over 85% of our attendees are buyers or they strongly influence purchasing decisions?

Attendees include:

- Designers
- Conservation Organizations
- Institutional Maintenance Staffs
- Arborists
- Landscapers
- Schools
- Municipal Managers
- Nursery Managers
- Golf Course Managers
- Architects
- Motivated Homeowners

Our 2008 conference program offers national speakers DR. JOHN TODD, TOM WESSELS, DAVID JACKE, DR. RICHARD PRIMACK, DEBORAH SOULE, PAUL TUKEY and 20 other Eco-Landscape Experts and Professionals. They will be covering topics like permaculture, IPM strategies for insects and diseases, building constructed wetlands, bio-energetics in plant health, integrating landscapes and local ecology, and much more!

The Eco-Marketplace is open March 7 from 8:00AM–6:00PM, and Saturday, March 8 from 8:00AM–1:30PM. There will be several program breaks, continental breakfast is served in the hall both Friday and Saturday and lunch is served on Friday, expanded on-floor programming and a jazz/cocktail hour on Friday all designed to allow plenty of time for people to visit and chat with exhibitors. The Eco-Marketplace is the best place to meet and sell to people actively looking for a healthy and ecological approach to the landscape.
